

The Millennium Problems Keith J

The Millennium Problems--chosen by a committee of the leading mathematicians in the world--are likely to acquire similar stature, and their solution (or lack of it) is likely to play a strong role in determining the course of mathematics in the twenty-first century.

The Millennium Problems: The Seven Greatest Unsolved ...

The Millennium Problems are seven problems in mathematics identified by the Clay Mathematics Institute as being particularly difficult and important. A one million dollar prize is offered for the solution of each problem. The awards have something of a precursor going back to 1900 when David Hilbert posed 23 problems of importance to mathematics.
